

What Has ISEA Done For YOU Lately?

No mandated Professional Development Days!

A Voice in professional development.

Determine the use and distribution of professional development funds.

Monitor the teacher evaluation process.

Recommend district use of Market Factor Incentives (state funding earmarked for hard to place teaching positions).

Teacher Quality Compensation Law calls for the creation of local teacher quality committees, made up of an equal number of teachers and administrators, to determine the use and distribution of state professional development funds, monitor the evaluation process, and recommend the use of the market factor incentives. No mandates for additional professional development days.
